

Rein Center

EMOTIONAL HEALTH AND WELL-BEING

Rein Center is seeking a psychologist or health care practitioner to join our multi-disciplinary approach to emotional health and well-being.

At present our center is myself, Dr. Amy Rein, my partner Dr. Laurie McCormick who is a psychiatrist and two other clinical psychologists. Rein Center located in Iowa City across from Mercy Hospital, is warm and inviting with a Zen feel to it. Our approach includes a strong knowledge base with over 40 years of combined experience as well as an understanding that connection is key to healing. We have 5 treatment rooms, one converts to a small yoga studio/group room and a relaxation room that offers our patients a variety of books, meditation toys and other stress management and personal growth resources. We believe that life-work balance is essential to well-being and we support are practitioners to set their schedules to ensure that they attend to self-care and personal fulfillment.

We are seeking practitioners who work from an in-depth, psycho-dynamically orientation and have an understanding and appreciation for mind-body approaches to psychotherapy. Knowledge and a passion for yoga, meditation, mindfulness, holistic and complimentary medicine is an asset. We currently offer psychological and psychiatric services and will be adding yoga, meditation, Chinese medicine, massage and other mind-body practitioners. We also intend to add more mind-body practices including biofeedback and neurofeedback. Practitioners are welcome to bring new ideas, groups, workshops and techniques that align with our approach.

If you would like to be part of a team that works together from a mind-body approach we would love to hear from you. We are seeking experienced therapists, but we are also happy to train and supervise.

We have several positions available and a very busy practice. You can work as little or as much as you would like. Shifts are available for daytime, evenings and weekends.
